While I think there is no cause for worry, I'm glad we didn't send your note yet...

I'll try to call you Friday morning to discuss. I'm not sure of the impications of sending the note.

Do you want us to send the note or wait, Susan? I think there's a little less concern now that the SHPO has responded. Thanks. Carl

Liz:
I still think you should send your email. Just tweak it to acknowledge that we know the SHPO has already responded.

I have a written response drafted. If I cannot send the written response, at a minimum, I will call the SHPO.

We should follow up and clarify with SHPO what our position is and what we see as the next steps. I think they are looking for that guidance.
