Subject: PMP Due November 15

Hi Justine:

This is to let you know that the next version of the PMP which we had promised to be available on November 15 will not be available until around the first of December. We are moving to our permanent offices and we have also changed our computer exchange provider, putting our machines down for a few days. Given the Thanksgiving holiday's we've decided to finish production of the next version in the week after Thanksgiving. I hope this is not an inconvenience.

Regards,

Simon
