Sounds good so far. This could be one of our biggest projects so Joe's support is appreciated

That's fine with me, Ron. Joe is stretched pretty thin, but I'm certain he'll do what he can to advance the goal. I am copying Joe on this reply. If you hear a choking sound coming from my office in a few minutes, that will signal that Joe has read this e-mail and isn't happy with prospects. Carl

I keep forgetting to mention this to you: Jim Barr is designated as the TPE-30 rep for region 9, yet Joe understands the history of the project currently being considered there. It has a history of contention, costs $3.5 B and could again result in a lawsuit. Given this, I think Joe's experience is important and suggest he be the TPE-30 staff person for that project – are you OK with that?
