Good morning Toru,

I thought perhaps setting up a time to talk would be easier than the two of us trying to catch each other in a free moment would be less stressful. What times would work for you over the next couple of days?

I have gone over the AA Report and done some snooping around on my own. In addition, I have spoken with my professor and he has suggested that I focus on one of the alternatives (the Salt Lake route or the second one with a fork to the airport) and look at the environmental challenges that may arise. This will not be a straight EIS-type report as I am ill-equipped to carry out all of the technical requirements but more of one that looks at who will be affected by such environmental issues. Consequently, I am looking for direction from you at what groups your team has begun focusing on and what sorts of environmental issues are coming up with regards to condemning property, construction, and the other logistics your team are facing.

thank you so far for your help!
