Mr. Mayor:

I understand that you are exploring possible rail transit issues in order to come up with some common sense options that are both cost effective and functional. Stone Consulting & Design in Warren, PA has extensive experience in assisting clients with various options and guiding them through the processes to actual project management and engineering of systems that are very cost effective and practical. Not all rail transit has to be big bucks that is poorly designed and doesn't meet the needs of the community.
