<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NAME</th>
<th>ORGANIZATION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Councilmember Ann Kobayashi</td>
<td>Honolulu City Council</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Senator Kurt Fevella</td>
<td>Hawaii State Senate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mufi Hannemann, President and CEO</td>
<td>Hawaii Lodging and Tourism Association</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Len Dempsey, Vice President</td>
<td>Hawaiian Dredging Construction Co</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jack Norton, President</td>
<td>Lea &amp; Elliott, Inc.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Huy Huynh, Principal</td>
<td>Lea &amp; Elliott, Inc</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Duane Kurisu, President</td>
<td>WKF, Inc.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joseph V. O'Donnell, Financial Secretary and Treasurer</td>
<td>Ironworkers Union Local 625</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>T. George Paris, President</td>
<td>Ironworkers Union Local 625</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wayne Kaululaau, President</td>
<td>Hawaii Teamsters Local 996</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gino Soquena, Executive Director</td>
<td>Hawaii Building &amp; Construction Trades Council</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>William Oku</td>
<td>State of Hawaii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dennis Enomoto</td>
<td>Palekana Permits</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wayne Kaiwi</td>
<td>Consulting Specialist</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harris Nakamoto</td>
<td>Union Help Hawaii, LLC</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sheldon Young</td>
<td>A/C Warehouse, Inc.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L. Leu, Esq.</td>
<td>Leu Okuda &amp; Doi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>George Hetherington, Esq.</td>
<td>Torkildson Katz Hetherington Harris Knorek, Attorneys at Law</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dwayne Bautista</td>
<td>Government Employees Local 1218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Winton Young</td>
<td>Individual</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alan M Chinen</td>
<td>Chinen &amp; Arinaga Financial</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kay Matsui</td>
<td>Transamerica Financial Advisor</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project’s budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the Ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project’s 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project’s stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME
Ann H. Kobayashi

SIGNATURE
Ann H. Kobayashi

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
Honolulu City Council
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME
Kurt Fevella

SIGNATURE
Kurt Fevella

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
State Senate
State Capitol, Room 217
415 S. Beretania Street
Honolulu, Hawai'i 96813
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the Ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME

Marti Hardesty

SIGNATURE

Marti Hardesty

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS

HART

2270 Kalakaua Ave

#1702

Honolulu, HI 96815
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project’s budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME

LEN DEMURSEY

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRES

Hawaii Demolishing Contractors Co.
605 Kapiohihi Blvd.
Honolulu 96813
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME          SIGNATURE          ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS

JACK NORTON          (Signature)          LEA & ELLIOTT, INC.
2025 N. STATE HWY 360, GRAND PRAIRIE, TX 75050
We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME
HUY NJ NW

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
Lea E. Elliott, Inc.
1094 Alakai St. #1109
Honolulu, HI 96813
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME SIGNATURE ORGANIZATION & ADDR
Duane Kaneshire  WKF, 1000 Bishop St #810, Hn Hi 96812
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS

T. George Paris

T. George Paris

Ironworkers Union
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME
Joseph V. O'Donnell

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
Financial Secretary-Treasurer & Business Manager
Iron Workers Union Local 625
94-497 Ukee Street
Waipahu, HI 96797
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME SIGNATURE ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS

Klayne K. Kauhalaan
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME
Gino Soquema

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
Hawaii Building & Construction
TRADERS COUNCIL
725 Bishop St., Suite 412
Honolulu, HI 96813
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME
William Ono

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
Stone
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME SIGNATURE ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
Dennis Enomoto Chin
Pulehuana Permits
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME  WAYNE KAIWI
SIGNATURE  Wayne
ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS  1026 LOUHE P/ HON. HI 96817
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME
Harris Nakamoto

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
Union Help Hawaii LLC
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME SIGNATURE ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
SHELDON YOUNG SHELDON YOUNG A/C WAREHOUSE INC.

670 KAUA'I ST. #1-10 HONOLULU, HI 96813
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME

DWARKIN BARTO

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS

LOCAL 1216

91-1095 KAUENA ST

KAPU\RI HI 96707
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME
Alan M. Chin

SIGNATURE

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS
Chinen Awainaga Financial
95-119 Kamehamaha Hwy
Mililani, HI 96789
September 2020

We, the undersigned, urge the members of the Honolulu Authority for Rapid Transportation Board of Directors to renew the contract of HART Executive Director and CEO Andrew Robbins.

During his first three years on the job, HART has made tremendous strides in several key areas of the rail project.

Mr. Robbins led the effort to complete the Recovery Plan for the project, as required by the Federal Transit Administration. The significance of the acceptance and approval of the Recovery Plan by the FTA cannot be overstated.

In addition, the project's budget has remained stable during his tenure, in sharp contrast to the period preceding his arrival at HART.

On the construction side of the project, work is winding down on the completion of the nine rail stations on the ewa end of the project. Mr. Robbins led the effort to address the engineering challenges with the canopy arms at these stations. The civil work on these facilities is now nearly finished which will allow Hitachi Rail to come in and make the stations ready for the launch of passenger service, which the City is planning to implement next year.

Work on the guideway and stations in the Airport section continues to progress. HART and its contractor are on track to have that section activated and ready for passenger service no later than 2023, so that just three years from now, 15 of the project's 20 miles, fully 75% of the new Honolulu rail system, will be available for the people of Honolulu.

All this work has meant jobs for our island people. There are both direct and indirect jobs related to the project. Especially in this time of a global pandemic, keeping the project going is providing a needed boost to our local economy as so many other sectors are hurting.

He has established strong working relationships with many of the project's stakeholders, including those in government, business, labor, and the community.

Despite the many issues faced by those who work on mega-projects such as our rail system, Mr. Robbins has put the project in a good place, meeting challenges by figuring out how they can best be addressed.

For the reasons listed above and for many others, we firmly believe he should continue to serve as the leader of the HART organization moving forward into the future.

PRINTED NAME

Kay Matsui

SIGNATURE

[Signature]

ORGANIZATION & ADDRESS

Transamerica Financial Advisor

1050 Queen St #100

Honolulu, HI 96813