I understand, Toru, but it might be best not to send the letter at this point; we're so close, I don't want anything to get in the way of the finish line. Carl

Carl, I appreciate the sensitivity you prefer and I'd like to do that if we could afford the time. Every minute of delay is adding the cost to the project. I learned the steel cost has gone up 15% in two months. So, once we learned you are willing to do with unsigned PA, then I thought all you needed is an administrative record with a clear statement even judges can see that we tried.
