Hi Ross, here is a very brief version of the comparison of the opportunity cost between the Aolele and Ualena Streets guideway options. This comes down to a number of assumptions and the information could change a bit if the assumptions are changed. The intent here was to compare the two alignments under the same set of circumstances. I sent the two supporting graphics through an FTP site because they are too large to email. Please call if you have questions. Thanks!

Can you share what you have come up with regarding the lost opportunity costs?
