Now I am really curious. Endangered species is my guess. Thanks for the warning.

Joe,

Just a heads up, Ray, Leslie and I toured the potential alignment for the Honolulu transit project with the staff/consultant team and were introduced to some potential environmental issues that will require discussion and guidance from FTA. The Honolulu team is preparing some information and questions which we'll distribute to help the discussion along, and then we'll schedule a call sometime in the near future to get into these issues. We'll be in touch soon.
