Brian:

OK. We're leaving for vacation tomorrow morning. I'll be back in the office on Wednesday, July 8. I will not have much access to e-mail for most of the time I'm away.

So, when you send me your review of the Honolulu O&M costs, please copy:

Sherry.Riklin@dot.gov and Elizabeth.Day@dot.gov

so that they are aware of the status of your review.

Thanks.
Jim

Jim,

I spoke with Chris Gambla at Lea+Elliott about the costing documentation. He is person who developed the bus model last summer and the one who has given me the information about what really is going on. He prepared the bus and rail models that you asked me to review. We had a two-hour conversation and I feel that I understand what was done. He promises to send me the detailed model by the end of today.

I have not changed my mind about my basic findings and what we discussed, but I prefer to get the documentation before I send you the write-up.

Brian
