Thank you Liz for your prompt attention. We, as staff, must be in sync at this critical point in time before we get back to this particular grantee. They're anxious to go to print on this $5.5 billion starter project. We should at least have some time to perform a "consistency" check on the final completely assembled document before it goes to print. I also briefed Leslie who is with Susan B and Peter this afternoon. We'll see what their take is. Talk to you and hopefully with Carl tomorrow.

Ed,

I received your message. I agree that a call is needed. I will set one up. Carl is in North Carolina currently at the TRB Environment and Energy Conference. He will be leading a session this evening on the New Starts ANPRM. He will be driving back tomorrow, but should be able to listen in on a teleconference.

Liz
